DETAILED ACTION

Title

1. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

The following title is suggested: Fastening Member for Luminaire Assembly Wiring Box.

Abstract

Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

A patent abstract is a concise statement of the technical disclosure of the patent and should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. If the patent is of a basic nature, the entire technical disclosure may be new in the art, and the abstract should be directed to the entire disclosure. If the patent is in the nature of an improvement in an old apparatus, the abstract should include the technical disclosure of the improvement. If the new technical disclosure involves modifications or alternatives, the abstract should mention by way of example the preferred modification or alternative.

The abstract should not refer to purported merits or speculative applications of the invention and should not compare the invention with the prior art.

Where applicable, the abstract should include the following:

- (1) if a machine or apparatus, its organization and operation;
- (2) if an article, its method of making;
- (3) if a chemical compound, its identity and use;
- (4) if a mixture, its ingredients;
- (5) if a process, the steps.

Extensive mechanical and design details of apparatus should not be given.

In addition, the abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words.

2. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it fails to concisely describe that which the applicant believes are the novel features of the claim invention, and it is longer than 150 words. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 16, 18, 20, 21 and 26-30 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fletcher (U.S. Pat. 4,363,086).

Fletcher discloses a luminaire assembly having:

- a ballast housing, Figure 1, reference number 10;
- a wiring box, Figure 1, reference number 5;
- a fastening member, Figure 1, reference number 21;
- the fastening member operatively connected to the wiring box, column 2, line 62;

- the wiring box being engageable with an lower end of the ballast housing for pivotally supporting such ballast housing, Figure 2;
- the ballast housing including a flange member, Figure 1, reference number 20;
- the flange member being adapted for engaging the fastening member to support the ballast housing, column 2, lines 60-63;
- the ballast housing having at least one opening adjacent a lower end;
- the wiring box having at least one tab member formed adjacent a lower end, Figure 1, reference number 13; and
- the tab member being for being secure to the ballast housing, column 2, lines 55-59.

Fletcher discloses all the limitations of the claims, but with a reverse location for the different element forming the fastening arrangement between the ballast housing and the wiring box. In addition, the wiring box of Fletcher is cylindrical and does not include a pair of side panels and a pair of end panels/

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made to reverse the location of the fastening arrangement of Fletcher, since it has been held that rearranging parts of a prior art structure involves only routing skill in the art. In re Japikse, 86 USPQ 70. In this case, the invention of Fletcher appears to be equally functional with, for example, the fastening member being disposed in the wiring box instead of in the ballast housing as claimed in the instant application.

Relevant Prior Art

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Rapp (U.S. Pat. 4,638,506), Flood (U.S. Pat. 4,403,278), Tharp et al. (U.S. Pat. 4,837,669) and Ewing (U.S. Pat. 5,121,309) disclose various fastening arrangements for securing wiring boxes to ballast housings.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 31-46 are allowed.

6. Claims 17, 19 and 22-25 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Applicant teaches a supporting assembly for a luminaire, such assembly having interconnection fastening means for securing a wiring box to a ballast housing. The fastening means include a flange member for engaging a fastening member in the ballast housing, such flange member including a notch. The flange member can also be used for fastening the wiring box to a second wiring box. A hook-type connector is provided on the top end of the wiring box, such connector including a bendable tab to at least partially close the hook portion.

No prior art was found teaching individually, or suggesting in combination, all of the features of the applicants' invention, specifically the structural details of the fastening arrangement.

Haugaard et al. (U.S. Pats. 6,390,655 and 6,467,927) disclose overhead lighting features disclosing all the limitations of the claims, however, Haugaard et al. is disqualified as Prior Art as the instant application has a priority date prior to the filing dates of such patents.
